TO THE SEARCHER

An article in the Indiana History Bulletin for December 1947, published by the Indiana Historical Bureau, Indianapolis, and quoted by permission, gives an excellent account of the status of the public domain in Indiana Territory, created May 7, 1800.

"Prior to 1800 the only land owned by individuals in Indiana was either in and around Vincennes, where titles went back to French and Indian grants, or in Clark's Grant opposite the present Louisville, which had been allotted to the men who had served with George Rogers Clark in his Revolutionary War campaign against the British.

"Indian title to all lands in Indiana was recognized at least nominally by the Federal government; and before any particular area was opened for sale, negotiations were opened with the chiefs of the tribes that claimed the land. Treaties were made whereby the Indians gave up their claims and accepted goods and money in exchange. The negotiations might be prolonged, but in the end the government always won out.

"The first such treaty affecting Indiana land was held in 1795, when the Indians ceded lands east of a line drawn from Fort Recovery in Ohio to a point on the Ohio River opposite the mouth of the Kentucky River. A triangular strip in what is now southeastern Indiana was thus opened for settlement; but it was not until six years later after the land had been surveyed and a land office was opened at Cincinnati, that it could be purchased. In the meantime, many settlers moved in and 'squatted' on the land, hoping to purchase their preferred site when the area was opened for sale.

"During the first two decades of government land sales in Indiana, purchasers had to buy at least 320 acres and pay a minimum of $2.00 per acre. Four years were allowed in which to complete payments. Land auctions were held when new areas were opened, and the land was sold to the highest bidder. Any tracts not sold at auction could be purchased at the land office for the minimum price. Many purchasers were forced to forfeit their lands when hard times came and payments could not be made. In 1820 a new law was passed which placed the minimum price at $1.25 an acre and allowed purchasers to buy as little as 80 acres. The credit system was abolished in favor of cash payments. At the auction sales, choice land often sold for three and four times the minimum price. In the 1830's and 1840's, pre-emption acts were passed by Congress to give the 'squatter' who had settled and improved a piece of land the opportunity to purchase it at the minimum price before the public sale.

"The rectangular system of land surveys was used for the first time in what is now Ohio in the 1790's. The system was conceived by Thomas Hutchins in 1764 while on an expedition against the Indians."

The tract books for the several land offices in Indiana are deposited in the office of the Auditor of State, Indianapolis, and are in the care of the State Land Clerk. Eventually, it is my plan to copy all of these records according to the chronological opening of the various land offices up to the closing of the offices and the transfer of the records of the remaining, unsold lands in each district to the then-called General Land Office in Washington, D.C.

These records have been copied solely for genealogical purposes to enable a searcher to learn if an ancestor did locate in Indiana; if so, where and when. Consequently, to save time and space, I have omitted giving the acreage and the final certificate numbers. Reference to my page 2 will give the acreage except in the case of fractional sections; and if anyone particularly cares for the final certificate number, he would probably want a signed letter from the Bureau of Land Management in Washington, D.C.

The land records for Indiana have never been published, copied, nor indexed by names. Therefore, they have been completely useless to searchers unless they knew the exact, or at least a close approximate, location of the land on which they suspected ancestors might have settled.

Since the 1820 Census is the first for Indiana, these records will serve, in a way, as a substitute for earlier censuses. The fact that a person entered land, however, does not necessarily mean that he ever actually lived on it. Also, some "squatter" residents may never have bought their land before they migrated to other places. These records will also serve as a partial index to the 1820 through 1880 Censuses, inclusive, in that they will locate a man in a definite township and county.

In copying the records, I have done so exactly as they appear in the originals --- by location. By this, searchers may be able to identify other members of the family from nearby entries made by people of the same surname; also there is the possibility of a clue to neighboring families into which daughters might have married. When a man entered several locations in the same township, I have listed these together after his name to save repeating it later --- providing I have caught the multiple entries in time.

After copying by locations, I have then re-arranged all those in one county together. Some years ago, a member of the State Board of Accounts, interested in the records, labeled the county names on the original pages. In most cases, these were easy for me to check. However, in the case of fractional sections bordering county lines, it is very hard to verify these; in such cases, I have accepted his labels although I do not guarantee them.

The searcher is warned against assuming, without other proof, that Sr. and Jr. necessarily mean father and son. In the early days, this often literally meant the "elder" and the "younger"---sometimes a man and his nephew, occasionally two unrelated men of the same name, coincidentally. A given name or middle name resembling a surname does not always positively indicate a relationship to that family. Children were often given the name of a neighbor. Of course, such names as George Washington Brown or Lorenzo Dow Green are self-explanatory!

In old handwriting, J and I were made identically. One can, of course, interpret Jones or Isaac; but where this letter is used as a middle initial, it is impossible to determine which is meant. I have copied such middle initials as J since in the various styles of handwriting that can be easily interpreted, J appears as a middle initial more often than I. It is hard sometimes to tell whether M is a middle initial or a name like McAdams. I have found difficulty in interpreting Lemuel and Samuel; also, I may have miscopied Jas. and Jos. although I have never seen Joseph abbreviated Jos.

Whimsical spelling has been given exactly as it appears. In the text itself, I have included all middle names and initials. However, in the index, to save space, I have used only the first name with the assumption that most men were called by it. If the searcher suspects that his ancestor might have used his middle name (and this is especially true of Germans), it would be wise to look up all given names listed under a surname. All entries under the same given and surname have been combined in the index; this does not necessarily mean that they are all for the same man.

In the index, I have occasionally made an attempt to standardize or modernize the spelling to make the names more easily found. Also I have combined similar-sounding names such as Meyer-Meier-Myers. However, my interpretation of the handwriting may be faulty; so the searcher is advised to "look around" the alphabet. Names beginning with L-S-T, for instance, look much alike in some script. Also, remember that German names were often spelled interchangeably: B-P, C-G, C-K, D-T, F-P, G-C, G-K, K-N, K-G, N-K, P-B, P-F, S-Z, T-D, V-W, V-F, W-V, Z-S.

Volume 1 of the Indiana Land Entries covered the Cincinnati District, 1801-1840. These records were contained in one small and one large book.

For the Vincennes District, there are 13 large books (some of which are partial duplicates) and one small. I think that it will take at least three books of the size which I am able to publish in order to cover the whole district. At the present time, I have divided the counties contained in this region into three approximately equal parts. This division has no significance other than to suit my convenience. Part 1 comprises all of the present counties of Daviess, Gibson, Knox, Martin, and Pike; and over half of Monroe and Lawrence; this is roughly the central third of the region.

There are in Indiana two Principal Meridians---the first at the Ohio-Indiana State Line at approximately 84 degrees and 49 minutes longitude, the second about two-thirds of the way across the state to the west at approximately 86 degrees and 28 minutes longitude. All ranges in the Vincennes District are west of the 2nd P.M. The Base Line in Indiana is located in the southern part of the state at approximately 38 degrees and 28 minutes latitude. Townships in the Vincennes District are both north and south of the Base Line.

Many entries in the Vincennes District will not be included here (and in Parts 2 and 3) because much of this land was set aside to be sold by the state as Wabash & Erie Canal Lands, Swamp Lands, and Saline Lands. (There are no Michigan Road Lands in this region.) The entries for these are available; but they are contained in so many different volumes and in such scattered fashion that to copy them now and attempt to correlate the locations with the counties would prevent the early publication of this and succeeding volumes. Consequently, I shall copy all of the regular land offices first and later copy these other records. The searcher must keep in mind that, if he does not find his ancestor in the region in which he is said to have lived, the man may show up later in the Swamp Lands records, for instance. Or, additional entries by the same man may show up in several records. In other words, the Vincennes Land Office records do not cover all the sales of lands in its area. Likewise, in a few cases, locations in the Vincennes District are listed as having been sold from the Jeffersonville District. Book 3 of the Vincennes records includes a few locations in the Jeffersonville District, namely T 7 N, R 3 E; T 8 N, R 10 E - R 13 E, incl.; and T 9 N, R 1 E - R 13 E, incl.; these I am holding over until I copy the Jeffersonville District. Some entries in an over-lapping area on the north (see map on page 1) will be found in the Crawfordsville District, to be copied later.

By Act of Mar. 26, 1804, the Vincennes Land Office opened on Apr. 27, 1807, although the earliest entries in Part 1 are dated May 15, 1807. The office, discontinued on Apr. 12, 1840, re-opened on order of Apr. 20, 1853, and finally closed on Dec. 20, 1861, although I find entries in years not included here and as late as on Sept. 4, 1877. Some of the dates in the 1870's I have suspected to be poorly written 50's, but I have no way of verifying this here.

Fortunately for the searcher, most entries list the present or former place of residence. To save space, I have used an asterisk * after a man's name to indicate that he is given as a resident of the county at the top of the page. Out-of-state places of residence are given in full. Residence in Indiana counties other than the one at the top of the page is abbreviated as follows:

The fact that a man is listed at an early date as a resident of a certain county does not necessarily mean that the county concerned is the present county of that name. A resident of a certain county in one year might find himself residing in another county the next year---without having moved! The last county line changes in the Vincennes District were not completed until 1868.

Some names are followed by MLW, which means Military Land Warrant. I have included these. Correspondence with the National Archives concerning several of these picked at random indicates that the majority are for service in the War of 1812, with some for the Black Hawk War and the Mexican War. Some entries are followed by LW. I suspect that these are for military service; but as I am not sure, I have omitted them.

All dates refer to the 1800's, 4-3-31 meaning April 3, 1831. One date after several entries means that all were entered on the same date.

I have omitted ½ and ¼ in the description since one capital letter always means a ½ section and two capital letters always means a ¼ section. Example:

N-SE north half of south-east quarter
E-N east half of north half
NW-SW north-west quarter of south-west quarter

Note the difference between NE-NW-S2 and NE, NW-S2. The former means the NE¼ of the NW¼ of Section 2 (or 40 acres); the latter means the NE¼ and also the NW¼ (a total of 320 acres) in Section 2. See page 2 for typical divisions of a whole section.

There is one slim book of Relinquishments. I feel sure that it does not include all of the entries which were relinquished for nonpayment as there are many names in the 13 books after which a final certificate number does not appear and as the latest relinquishments are dated only through 1831. Relinquished lands were sometimes sold to a new purchaser or were sometimes bought back later by the original entrant, in full or in part. One date after a Relinquishment means the date of entry; in a few cases, the date of relinquishment follows as a second date.

Joint entries in the original records are listed as Richard and Henry Jones. I have copied and indexed these as Richard Jones and Henry Jones. However, some joint entries are listed as John Gray and James Carter Jones. I do not know whether this means John Gray or John Gray Jones. I have copied such entries exactly but have indexed them both ways.

Special mention must be made of Knox County as it was the very earliest part of the state to be settled. Knox County is an abstracter's nightmare since very little of the county is surveyed in townships; the "square" covers most of the land. In 1814 a courthouse fire destroyed all records. The present deed indexes start in 1814. For earlier records, the abstracters consult Vols. 1-2-7 of the American State Papers. Vol. 2, pp. 285-287 list the heads of families residing there in 1783 who were entitled to the Donation Lands, often called the French Grants. In the "square" (a small part of which is now in Daviess County) were laid off 160 lots of 400 acres each. These were found to be insufficient; so 86 more lots were laid off surrounding the "square". An excellent account of the matter can be found on pp. 94-146 of Goodspeed's 1886 History of Knox and Daviess Counties, Indiana.

The Militia Donations were 128 grants of 100 acres each to men who were enrolled in the Militia at Vincennes on Aug. 1, 1790, and who had done military duty but who had not received a donation. In Knox County originally, these grants are now in Gibson County.

Near Vincennes 5,400 acres were granted to the inhabitants of the city as a "common". These were later divided into square lots of 5-10-20 acres called Divisions A-B-C.

Private claims were not considered in the laying out of the Donation Lands and Military Donations. Claimants were permitted other locations, irregularly shaped, of from just a few acres to 400; these claims were called Locations.

For still other claimants, irregularly shaped surveys were made and allotted; such claims were called Surveys. For lists of all these grants, see Goodspeed's history.
